HICKS MOUNTAIN HONEY LIKES'M BIG, "SIZE DOES MATTER." EXCLAIMS THE TOP SHOT COWGIRL! SAND DAB SAM TOPS IS JULY - SHOOT TOO EASY!! DICE ROY AND GERMAN BOB DEMAND RECOUNT!!!!

Vol. IV July 2013

For those who find fault in others work, spelling errors have been left in for their amusement.

BALDY GREEN CLAIMS "OLD WOMEN SMELL!!"

HICKS MOUNTAIN HONEY WANTS TO BAN SMALL CALIBRE RIFLES – WANTS ONLY "BIG BOY" RIFLES!!!

BUCK RETURNS WITH A VENGEANCE AND VOWS TO GET BACK ON TOP – NOT THERE IS ANYTHING WRONG WITH THAT!!

Outlined on the horizon was an Indian raiding party ready to attack the little town of Chabot. The dispute started when the Howling Wolf Saloon refused to pay the whiskey transportation fee that was negotiated between the Indian tribes and the Saloon Conglomerate. The fee was negotiated to ensure safe passage of whiskey through the Indian territories. The fees included some beer, whiskey, and beads (yes beads).

To improve the bottom line, and bring up their stock value, the Howling Wolf Inc. decided to not pay their share of the transportation fee, and now all the saloons were in jeopardy. Realizing the error of his ways, the CEO of Howling Wolf Inc.,

Gus Ashcroft agreed to pay the fees. But it might have been too little too late and the raiding party was preparing to ride into town.

As the city council gathered to decide what to do (tar and feathering Gus was discussed at length but vetoed since it was determined that they make the best Margaritas in town) the city council determined that a few warning shots might deter the Indian.

But who could possibly shoot so far and scare the raiding party? Most of the cowboys in town shot these pissey ant rifles shot rounds that barely made it out town. Then up stepped Hick's Mountain Honey. "I can make that shot. It will be easy and I guarantee they will be scared." Doubt was apparent in the City Councils eyes but she then pulled out her rifle – and it was a big one.

With a 28 inch barrel, and shooting a monster 45-70. No one could believe that this little lady had such a gun, or that she could shoot it, but they agreed to let her try. At the edge of town Hick's took careful aim and fired a round hitting the feather off of the head dress of the lead Indian.

There was a shocked silence as the townfolk stared in wonderment at the incredible shot they just witnessed. And to their relief the raiding party took stock of what just occurred and decided maybe raiding Chabot was not such a good idea – and they turned and rode away. And with that Hick's exclaimed, "See size does matter!"

Hundreds of shooters showed up to test their metal at the easy huge targets at Chabot. The top shooter was Sand Dab followed by Dice Roy, German Bob, Buck, and Panhandle Place.

JASPER AND CYRUS DEFEND WOMAN'S HONOR!!!

Stage one

Two brave cowboys came to the rescue of Hick's Mountain Honey yesterday as she strolled down Fremont Street, outside the Niles Gaming Palace, Hick's was confronted by over 20 ruffians. Being her first time in the town of Chabot Hick's didn't know what to do.

But before she could call for help Jasper and Cyrus (returning from bible study), stepped in between the ruffians and Hicks. When one of the ruffians stuck his hand into his jacket Jasper & Cyrus drew down on the bunch and "let them have it", saving Hicks from harm.

Sand Dab Sam was numero uno in stage one followed by German Bob, Dice Roy, Jasper and Cyrus Sidewinder.

SAND DAB SAM PUTS ON INCREDIBLE DISPLAY OF SHOOTING!!

Stage two & three

Sand Dab, Sand Dab, Sand Dab – the chant down Main Street was building to a crescendo as Sand Dab round Front Street to confront 20 plus desperados that had taken over Buck's Gaming Palace and Dance Hall. The desperados were given ample warning then the City Council approached Sand Dab to talk some reason to the ruffians and get the Saloon open before happy hour.

The crowds gathering on the boardwalks were confident that Sand Dab would clean out the Saloon and the odds makers had it at even money. Sand Dab entered the Saloon and there was a brief silence and then all hell broke loose – bystanders claimed they heard over 20 shots, then Sand Dab came to the Saloon doors and proclaimed the Saloon open for business. Showing blazing speed Sand Dab gott'm all in just over 32 seconds without a miss. Second was Cyrus Sidewinder, then Dice Roy and Jasper.

BRUNO BILLY RIDES WIDOW MAKER OFF INTO THE SUNSET!!!"

Stage Four

Bruno Billy was no stranger to betting and winning money. This one seemed simple, hit all of the street lights and turn your hundred dollar wager into one thousand dollars.

Billy would be riding one of Panhandle's wild horses and Panhandle Place knew his horses and knew his suckers. A hush fell over the anxious crowd as Billy mounted the little steed. Panhandle asked if he was ready, and at Billy's acknowledgment Panhandle gave the pony a whack on the behind, and ol Widow Maker bucked hard. It let out a vertical leap of a little over six feet, then turned on a dime and gave some change. At this point Billy's shooting was a little sporadic - but the spectators knew this was coming and had ample cover.

When the guns were empty Widow Maker and Billy was light a C note. Sand Dab took another first followed by German Bob, Panhandle, Dice Roy and Buck.

BUCK SAVES DISTILLERY

Stage five

Being a part owner in the local beer distillery had its advantageous according to Buck, even though he consumed a large percentage of the profits, his was a successful distillery supplying most of the saloons past the dead line.

Buck is basically an affable type but when a gang of no-good thieving outlaws attempted to rob the Bucks Finest Brewing Company, the perpetrators were corned within hours, and Buck dispensed some true western sixgun justice.

Buck finished fourth, with rifle pistol and shotgun. This was with the knock downs and bonus target. Tops was Sand Dab followed by Dice Roy, Rowdy Yates and Buck.
