Whiskey in glasses and Saloon girls on tables
Big giant targets and warm shotgun barrels
A big gun safe full of shiny things
These are a few of my favorite things!

Six guns a-blazen and crisp rings on metal Shotguns and knockdowns and rifles with peep sights
Colts that shoot straight loaded with bling
These are a few of my favorite things!

Cowgirls in white dresses with sixguns on hips Black powder that goes boom and hangs in the air 45-70's that make a load bing
These are a few of my favorite things!

When hung over, when can't shoot straight

When I'm feeling sad
I simply remember my favorite things and then I don't feel so bad!

Ok no more poetry for the rest of the year.
Merry Xmas to all and hope you had a good holiday. Had a great year (no one got killed so our records still clean - yea). Shortened the match because of the threat of rain which never appeared so got done on time and retired to the bar.

San Dab prevailed and beat Salt Pork by a mere 8 seconds. Buck is back with a vengeance taking third overall. Rillito Red rode in from New Mexico and could not get used to them close targets but gotta a 6th overall (this ain't no pussy SASS match).

Also, a gang of Northerners visited the town and there was nary a 97 amongst them but they did alright with them antique side by side shotguns.

Next match is the 15th so will see you there.
Will figure out the 2011 winners soon and will get them awards before 2016.
Thanks to all that move the steel about.

WILL COONER SAVES TRAIN SHIPMENT!!

Stage one

Wide was the fame of the Will's Stages and splendid were his goings and comings. Of course he carried matter for Wells Fargo, and so it befell that one noontime he set out from Chabot on the San Francisco run with six horses, five passengers and $30,000 in minted gold to pay off the mill workers at the end of the haul.

The daylight hours passed pleasantly. The weather was more than clement, the company aboard the stage was entirely masculine and so provided none of the inconveniences to its conduct implicit in female fares, and one of the travelers, Buckaroo Long, who was, perhaps by shrewd selection, invited by the driver to share the box, was provided with a square-faced bottle of Hoot's Medford rum from far-off Massachusetts, no common fare in Chabot.

Not until nightfall, when all his passengers were sleeping soundly under Buffalo robes in the interior of the coach, did the Will think of danger. Then, just before moonrise and as the Concord was climbing a steep reverse curve, there came out of the darkness the accustomed hail and command to "throw down that box."

Without hesitation the Will aimed a swinging blow with his buckskin lash at the near-wheel horse and in the same movement drew a his Colt revolver from his cloak. There was a roar as of cannon fire from the Colt. The horses leapt as though the devil was driving, the Concord lurched with terrifying abruptness, and the answering gunfire from the ditch lodged hot lead in the expensive painting on the door representing the Lakes of Killarney in springtime. The passengers cowered on the floor, sharing the remains of the Hoot rum, and the entire entourage thundered off into the dark with Wells Fargo treasure intact and no great damage done. Whew, that was quite a stage ride (an actual event by the famous stage driver Jim Miller).

Tops was Sand Dab followed by Buck, Salt Pork Steve, and Rowdy Yates.

HICKS MOUNTAIN HONEY BLAZES THOUGH FIFTEEN RUSTLERS!!!

Stage two

Hick Mountain Honey got her handle from owning, and operating, one of the largest Bee ranches west of the Mississippi (only 78942 acres - give or take) Hicks honey operation was big money so when faced with 15 honey rustlers she just smiled and said, "Boys you should not bring a knife to a gunfight, and if you should have brought more than 15 men."

With her trusty side by side 12 gage and two sixshooters, Hicks faced down the gang of honey thieves. Asking them to put up their irons, the gang made the mistake of going for the smoke wagons. In less that a minute Betty Lou laid waste to the gang and saved her honey.

Hick Mountain was clean and 14th overall. First was Salt Pork Steve followed by Sand Dab, and Two Shot George.

IMA GONER CLEANS UP THE TOWN!!

Stage three

After a long night at the poker table Ima was ahead by a pretty large margin. As the last hand was being dealt the table limits were removed so this was all or nothing. Not trusting the players at the table Ima kept a close eye on the deal. After the betting rounds and draw Ima suspected he was be dealt seconds when the betting between two of the players started to get high. With the betting done Ima showed to full boat, kings over, and appeared to be beat by another boat with aces over. The only problem was with all the hands showing there was too many aces. Drawing her "45" Ima declared his hand was the "power". Some confederates of the crooked gamblers started to come to the rescue of their covered friends so Ima let'm have it - with her rifle and pistol. When the smoke cleared Ima was indeed the winner.

Ima Goner took 12th overall. First was Tully Mars in 9.08 seconds, he was followed by Salt Pork, El Passo, and Rough "N" Ready.

BUCKAROO LONG & BLUERIDGE KIDD "CLEAN" OUT SALOON!!

Stage four

Not known for their drinking abilities (see this is fiction), Buckaroo and Blueridge were knocking "down" a few whiskeys, trading war stories about the good ol days of knock down targets, real black powder, hammered side by sides, and 45-70 Winchesters, when a group of men in the back of the saloon told them to "Hold it down, quit living in the past and get with the program. We cowboys shoot small caliber sixguns and rifles with just enough powder. The targets are big and close we don't have to aim."

Buckaroo and Blueridge turned red with rage, and downing one more whiskey, with stern expressions on there faces, slowing turned on the hecklers. With their .45's on their hips, coach guns held loosely at their sides they grinned at the group of "newbies" and warned them not to mess with real cowboys shooting real guns.

The load mouths looked hesitant but were sure that they could take these slightly inebriated old timers. The group spread out getting ready to "draw down". This was all Buckaroo &

Blueridge needed. Demonstrating their skill with firearms the two fired over 40 rounds and didn't hit a thing. After the smoke cleared the offending cowboys were no where to be seen and Buckaroo and Blueridge could add another tale to their resume.
