For those who find fault in others work, spelling errors have been left in for their amusement.

REDWOOD KID USES SCHOFIELD FOR QUICK RELOAD – INSIDE KNOWLEDGE ALLEGED!!

BUCK BACK IN TOWN-VOWS TO BE TOP
GUN SOON!!

TOO MANY SHOT FIRED FOR ONLY FIVE
STAGES – MOST RIFLES ONLY HOLD TEN
ROUNDS – COWBOYS SCREAM UNFAIR!

MANY BRING A DOUBLE TO A 97 FIGHT – NOT ALWAYS A GOOD IDEA!!!

As the Sun peaked out over the Eastern hills the town of Coyote Valley began to wake up. Off in the distance two riders were seen on the horizon, with their right hands tangling close to their ivory handled Colts, a true sign of a gunfighter. These two looked like trouble and the last thing the town needed was a pair of gunfighters.

As the riders come closer the town-folk recognized who they were, and as the word spread more of the citizens came out to witness the sight of two of the most famous gunfighters were coming to town. On the East side of Main Street the crowd began to chant – Tully, Tully, Tully, Tully, Tully; and on the West side of the street the crowd matched the chant with, Buck, Buck, Buck, Buck, Buck. Then the chant became Tully, Buck, Tully, Buck, loader and loader until it was a frenzy so when the two entered Main Street and the crowd went crazy.

Seeing these two in town was incredible, not since Teddy Roosevelt rode through town did anything like this happen (well maybe when the saloons had a buy one drink get one free drink – that was a memorable occasion). The bid question this reporter had, along with the town, is what are they here for – a show down shooting contest, big poker game, drinking contest (Buck was known worldwide as Pizza Pizza), or simply they wanted to visit the local establishment for some good clean fun.

They rode their horses up to the hitching rail outside the Gouge Eye Saloon, dismounted, and while being mobbed with by friends, bookies, and those seeking a free drink, the two entered the Saloon. Sauntered up to the bar they looked the bartender, Cyrus Sidewinder, in the eye and ordered their favorite drink – the famous Jacktinnie.

With a shaking hand Cyrus prepared the Jacktinnie’s, hoping that it would be perfect or the last drink he ever made, he served up the drinks (with the signature umbrella) and Tully and Buck downed the drink, slammed down the empty drinks with smiles on their faces (Cyrus breathed a big sigh of relief).

After several Jacktinnie’s the two revealed that this was the only reason they were in town. Oh-well, after the bets were paid off the two gave the town a great display of shooting.

Buck took to the shoot like a duck takes to water, shacking off the dust using his Colts, Winchester rifle and shotgun with great skill. Buck took 4th place overall not too shabby against the likes of Tully Mars, Dice, and Lucas.

Tops was none other than Tully Mars beating the crap out of Dice who was still concerned with the Captain Buffalo curse and Dice was followed by Lucas McDennis.

GANG OF FIVE ROBS BANK AND GETS AWAY – PREACHER TODD GANG NOT SUSPECTED!!

Stage One

The successful morning robbery of the German Bob’s Bank of the East shocked the small town of Coyote Valley. After numerous unsuccessful attempts by the Preacher Todd Gang, the townsfolk just assumed that they would never have a successful robbery. But on the morning of the 6th five cowboys burst into the Bank and, with an air of professionalism never seen by the employees or customers (having witnessed many of Preacher Todd’s attempts) the five desperadoes gathered up all of the money in the safe (estimated to be about $175,000 in cash - money that the cat barons received for their cat herds). And without a shot being fired the five very professional, and well dressed I might add, strolled out of the bank, and rode out of town.

Because of the success of the robbers no one gave any thought to pursuing the Preacher Todd Gang. But who were these desperate characters? The only lead that Deputy Dan had was from Morgan Play who saw Little Blacky, Buck Rue, Springfield Slim, Jasper and Redwood Kid the bank putting on masks. Would they be caught? No one knows for sure but Deputy Dan will be on the Job. Dice Splinter was top gun followed by Lucas McDennis and Rowdy Yates.

CYRUS SIDEWINDER GUNS DOWN
RUSTLERS - SAVES HERD!!

Stage two

Do not bring a side by side shotgun to a '97 fight, and if your facing Cyrus Sidewinder (the scourge of the West), bring more than 35 men. With his trusty Winchester, two six-shooters and a stocked 97, Cyrus faced down a gang of rustlers. Asking them to put up their irons, the gang made the mistake of going for the smoke wagons. In less than a minute Cyrus laid waste to the gang and saved the cattle.

That's right. With rifle, sixgun and 97 Cyrus got'm in a tad over a minute and took 5th. Tops was Tully Mars followed by Dice, Calamity Carl and Lucas.

LITTLE BLACKY GUNS DOWN BOISTEROUS SALOON PATRONS!!

Stage three

The famous dancer and singer Little Blacky was performing for one night at Redwoods Kid's Pleasure Palace & Card Room. How this saloon got such a classy act is a mystery to this reporter. There was standing room only as a diverse crowd awaited Little Blacky's appearance. Unfortunately among the crowd were the unsavory types that usually associated themselves with Redwood's establishment.

As the curtain was lifted to reveal the great Little Blacky some of the patrons could not resist pulling out their side-arms and discharging them into the air. This greatly upset Mrs. Blacky but in response she pulled out her own sixguns and thus began a very entertaining exchange of gunfire, with Little Blacky, "cleaning house" as it were. Well it could happen. Little Blacky took 8th overall. First was Tully Mars, followed by Buck, Calamity Carl and Dice Splinter.

TULLY MARS GUNS DOWN
RUSTLERS - SAVES HERD!!

Stage four & five

Do not bring a knife to a gunfight, and if your facing Tully (the scourge of a small patch of ground outside of the East Bay), bring more than 28 men. With his trusty Winchester 97, two Colt six-shooters, and '73, Tully (while peacefully sleeping) was awakened by a rather rude gang of rustlers. Abruptly rising from his blanket, with nothing but hat and long-johns, he politely asked them to put up their irons.

But the gang made the mistake of snickering at his long-johns (with the little ponies, and saddles printed on them) given to him by his dear Mother. In less than half a minute Tully laid waste to the gang saved the cattle, and got a good night's sleep. First for stage four and five was Tully in a combined time of 27.03, followed by Dice with a combined time of 28.99, then Rowdy Yates (no way) with a combined time of 32.06. Fastest time in stage four (shotgun/pistol) was Dice in 11.01 and fastest time in stage five (shotgun and rifle) was Tully in 9.68.

BUCK'S MOVIE REVIEW

Saw Hostel recently and it was a pretty good cowboy movie and had some good shootin', then went to see The Sisters Brothers and it was loooong, really long. Also, if you're a stickler for any degree of accessory then the quick change of the 1851 cylinders is a bit much. The way I see it during this quick changes there would be percussion caps flying all over the place.

WELL THAT'S IT UNTIL NEXT TIME..
